UK Hydrographic Office Channel Forum in London

13 NOVEMBER 2025

Our colleague Ioannis Stefanis from the Bogerd Martin Hellas office attended the UK Hydrographic Office Channel Forum in London.

The forum brought valuable discussions on the future of maritime navigation, including a presentation on the new standard S-100, and with ADMIRALTY Digital Sailing Directions (ADSD) standing out as a key step in the modernisation of nautical information and its use on the bridge.

At Bogerd Martin, we actively engage in these industry conversations and continue supporting the transition towards smarter, more connected digital navigation.

Thank you to the UK Hydrographic Office — and to Ioannis Stefanis for representing our team.
